International House Berlin PROLOG

When PROLOG was founded over 20 years ago, we wanted to offer a modern alternative to the traditional education market. Our open and inviting atmosphere, the internationality of our students and the variety of cultures here in Berlin has won over our course participants since then. Last year we had more than 2,000 students learning German from more than 60 nations.

The school is situated in what was West Berlin, in one of the most beautiful districts, which also happens to be one of the liveliest quarters of the city – Schöneberg. Ideal connections to the public transportation network mean that all destinations are within easy reach: ih Berlin PROLOG is just a couple of minutes away from the underground and local rail stations on Hauptstraße in Berlin-Schöneberg.

Which course is for me?

You decide whether you prefer group lessons or if you would like to have a teacher all to yourself. Our groups have a maximum of ten people. This way we can combine theory and practice in communicative teaching situations, in which both grammatical questions and speaking practice are thoroughly covered. The small group format allows us to give individual attention to everyone in the class.

We design our courses to match the individual levels and personal interests of our students. For each lesson, we mix our own lesson material with standard course books, to build on what you already know, freshen up what you've forgotten, and quickly cover new ground.
